Face Politics (Interventions) Jenny Edkins

The face is central to contemporary politics. In Deleuze and Guattari's work on faciality we find an assertion that the face is a particular politics, and dismantling the face is also a politics.

This book explores the politics of such diverse issues as images and faces in photographs and portraits; expressive faces; psychology and neuroscience; face recognition; face blindness; facial injury, disfigurement and face transplants through questions such as:

- What it might mean to dismantle the face, and what politics this might entail, in practical terms?
- What sort of a politics is it?
- Is it already taking place?
- Is it a politics that is to be desired, a better politics, a progressive politics?

The book opens up a vast field of further research that needs to be taken forward to begin to address the politics of the face more fully, and to elaborate the alternative forms of personhood and politics that dismantling the face opens to view. The book will be agenda-setting for scholars located in the field of international politics in particular but cognate areas as well who want to pursue the implications of face politics for the crucial questions of subjectivity, sovereignty and personhood.

Sergio Hawkinson:

As a university student exactly feel bored to reading. If their teacher requested them to go to the library or to make a summary for some publication, they are complained. Just small students that have reading's heart and soul or make it their pastime. They just do what the instructor wants, like asked to go to the library. They go to right now there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that reading through is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful images on there. Yeah, it is for being complicated. Book is very important to suit your needs. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever we really wish for. Likewise words say, ways to reach Chinese's country. So, this Face Politics (Interventions) can make you really feel more interested to read.
